James McKernon and Frank Abbiatti have been engaged by A. Scampini to dismantle that section of the Scampini building on North Main street which was used until recently for moving picture purposes. Rev. Edgar Crossland of Wellington street will leave the city this evening for Lowell, Mass., where he is to attend the annual convention of the presbytery of Newburyport. At Groton he will be joined by Rev. Francis Laird, pastor of the Presbyterian church in West Barnet. Rev. Mr. Crossland plans to return to Barre at the end of the week, or in time to conduct Easter services in the Barre church.

A postcard received in Barre yesterday from Robert Imhah, a former resident of this city, stated that he was in Bordeaux, France, whither he recently accompanied a consignment of horses from Philadelphia, destined for use by the allies in France. At the time of writing Mr. Imhah, contemplating a transfer to the transportation service of the British army, purposed going to Egypt for a sojourn of indefinite length. Mr. Imhah left Barre several months ago.

L. Borgia and Frank Trentini of North Main street left the city last night for New York, whence they expect to sail within a few days for their former home in Italy, there to make a stay of several months in the northern end of the peninsula. Messrs. Borgia and Trentini are the first of their countrymen to hazard a voyage to the sunny slopes of their native slope in several months. Since the break between Italy and the dual monarchy, few members of the Barre Italian colony have contemplated with any seriousness a trip overseas. Many of the travelers' compatriots were at the station to bid them goodbye.

Bangor, Me., April 18.—Freeman Nadeau of Shin Pond, who was indicted at the February term of court for assault upon his wife, and who, while in jail awaiting action by the grand jury, attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a piece of tin, escaped last night from the Bangor state hospital for the insane, to which he was committed on February 5 for observation.

How he managed to escape is a mystery, as he had to pass two locked doors, the keys to which are carefully guarded, while the locks are of a type that is next to impossible to pick.

A Trustee Appointment.

Editor, Barre Daily Times: I note with surprise the statement in yesterday's issue of The Times relative to the appointment of Martin Riley as trustee in the suit of chancery against H. Hersey et al of Barre. By way of correction, I wish it known that this appointment is based simply and solely on an innocent mistake. As such, like any other transaction based upon a mistake, it is of course null and void and will be so treated by the appointing power.

Harvey Hersey.

A meeting of the Barre Tennis club was held last evening to elect officers and make plans for the coming season. The last year's officers were re-elected and a committee on membership was appointed. New names will be taken in any time during the coming week and voted upon at a meeting to be held April 24. It is planned to fix up the courts at Gospel Village this year and to run one or two tournaments. The intention at present is to lock the doors of the courts this year so that only those having keys can play. Persons desiring membership this season should see Harvey Averill, Alfred Mackay or Harold Morse sometime before next Monday night.

A broken water pipe connecting the North Main street main with the basement of the Durkee block was responsible for a near inundation of Miers' barber shop and other basement sections this forenoon. Barbers discovered the trouble soon after 8 o'clock. An hour later it had been discovered that a break and not a leaky pipe was responsible for the three feet of water that had flowed into the basement. Water Superintendent P. O. Lee sent a couple of men to the scene of the break and before the pipe could be reached it was necessary to puncture the concrete sidewalk in front of the block. A half-inch stream, running full head into the basement, was cut off by dint of much effort and before the shoe shining parlor and barber shop adjoining the Miers establishment had been visited by any considerable quantity of water.

The town of Dalbeattie, Scotland, is raising a fund which is to be expended in the endowment of a hospital bed in a hospital in France. The bed is to be known as the "Dalbeattie exile bed" and is for the use of wounded "Tommys." Three-fifths of the sum needed has already been raised, coming from natives of Dalbeattie in every land where the "yin twee" language is spoken, and an attempt is to be made among Barre men hailing from that part of Scotland to raise a sum here which shall go to help out the cause.

Felix Silvera, an elderly Italian granitecutter, whose unfortunate indigency prompted the authorities to care for him early last fall, is having his most cherished desire gratified through the generosity of friends here in Barre. Silvera was an inmate at the city farm until last Saturday, when a fund brought together by Joseph D. Ossola enabled the aged man to leave for New York, where he was due to sail to-day for his home in northern Italy. Silvera has not seen his wife in fifteen years and his children have been separated from him for a longer period. Here in America he was without relatives and most of the older stonecutters with whom he was acquainted have passed away.
